'Joe' Roderick honored at Gould's Alumni Weekend

Despite drenching rains, close to 400 alumni returned to Gould Academy last weekend to renew old acquaintances and honor Richmond L. "Joe" Roderick, former director of physical education from 1943 to 1967. Mr. Roderick officiated at the Alumni/Faculty Cross Country race, which he did with the same authority he practiced for years as a track coach at Gould.

Waiting nearby as the former coach started the runners were 14 of his former track captains who gathered around him after the runners were clear. Dave Hawkins, '43, of Westwood, Mass., was the captain of

Telstar seniors score near state averages on SAT

Telstar's graduating seniors last June scored above the state average on the verbal section of the 1985 Scholastic Aptitude Test, but below the state average on the math section, according to figures supplied by the Telstar guidance office and the Maine Department of Educational and Cultural Services.

On the verbal section of the SAT, the Telstar students taking the test averaged 462, whereas the state average was 432. On the math portion, the Telstar students averaged 452, while the state average was 466.

At the state level, the 1985 scores showed a slight increase over 1984 scores—an increase of three points in each portion.

On the local level, the 1985 scores were up sharply over 1984, but were down from some previous years. Test results have varied widely over the years, possibly because of the small number of students taking the exam locally. This past year, only 40 (of 75 graduating seniors) took the test.

Woodstock special town meeting next Tuesday

The Town of Woodstock will hold a special town meeting next Tuesday night, at 7 p.m. in the town hall, to choose a selectman to fill the unexpired term of the late Selectman Frank Bean.

Only Jerry Hefley has formally announced his availability for the position. But George Hooper was at the Board of Selectmen meeting last night and is said to be considering running for the seat.

The meeting will also be asked whether the town should purchase a used grader, and whether or not to discontinue a road from the West Paris town line to the Sumner town line.

among Telstar senior classes are as follows:

• 1982	440	420
• 1983	470	450
• 1984	420	380
• 1985	452	462

The statewide averages were one point higher than the national averages in verbal and nine points lower than the national averages in math. National

CMP says cost of Gloria could cause rate hike

The $1.5 price tag toted up by Central Maine Power as the cost of cleaning up after Hurricane Gloria a week-and-a-half ago may be passed on to the consumer.

Peter Thompson, CMP's manager of public affairs, told The Citizen his company would consider the extra operating costs involved with repairing storm damage added justification in any rate-hike request put before the state's Public Utilities Commission.

A number of people were still angry with CMP last week for taking so long to repair downed lines. Asked why CMP didn't hire linemen from unaffected states to speed up the repair, Mr. Thompson said his company felt it would take longer to bring in workers from other utilities than to do the work themselves. However, last week—four days after the storm went through—CMP did bring in workers from other utilities (from northern Maine and New Hampshire). CMP also hired 200 workers for tree-trimming duties.

Asked if the company had been regularly performing tree-trimming maintenance to keep limbs away from

Evergreen Valley sale still not final

The successful bidder for the purchase of the Evergreen Valley Resort missed a second closing date last Friday. And officials at the Finance Authority of Maine, which is selling the property it holds through bankruptcy proceedings against the former owner, said prospective owner Leonard Zimmerman, of Boston, Mass., may be kissing $222,000 goodbye.

"That money (paid by Zimmerman as a non-refundable deposit) in the bank is ours," said FAME official Duncan McKeller.

Last summer, Mr. Zimmerman offered $1.7 million to purchase the 2,100-acre, four-season resort in East Stoneham. He had originally planned to

Newry selectmen meet

The Board of Selectmen met yesterday morning and considered one request for public assistance. The person will file a formal application.

A taxpayer with a question about the boundaries of his property came in to look at the tax maps. There seems to be some question as to his ownership of a parcel of property, as his deed seems to conflict with the deed of another parcel. Nothing could be decided from the maps and the owner will check further at the Registry of Deeds and with the former owner of his property.

The town has two tax liens that will mature in November. Letters will be sent out informing the property owners that unless these liens, cost and interest, together with unmatured liens and 1985 taxes are paid before the liens mature, the property will be put up for sale by sealed bid.

A treasurer's warrant was made to pay current bills, and $20,000 in surplus funds was invested in a savings account.

Bethel officials accept bid for office renovation

Bethel selectmen Monday night awarded the work on phase one of the Cole Block (town office) renovation to George Olson, of Bethel. Mr. Olson was the only bidder for the job, which had been advertised.

Mr. Olson's bid of $18,476 for converting the side office space of the Cole Block into a selectmen's meeting room and police office was higher than the $15,000 budgeted last June for the work. Town Manager Rodney Lynch informed the selectmen, "I told George the way we would do it would be to go as far as the fifteen thousand would take us."

Board Chairman Arlan Jodrey said the work, if it is not completed, would stop

A giant honored last weekend

At last Saturday's Gould Academy alumni luncheon, Joe Roderick a legend among those who attended the school during the '40s, '50s and '60s, was honored.

Few of the students who attended Gould Academy during those years failed to be influenced in some manner by Joe. Although primarily the teacher of boys' physical education, his influence extended over a far greater sphere than that. His role as friend, confidante, coach, and counselor knew no rich, no poor; it made no difference to Joe if a student lived in the dormitory or was a day student.

His assistance with gymnastic instruction in the girls' physical education program brought the intricacies of that sport to the forefront long before it achieved the widespread visibility it enjoys today.

As the present Gould headmaster, Bill Clough, said last Saturday, few have influenced so many as has Joe; he truly left footprints for many to follow.

The honoring of Joe grew from an idea of John Todd, present director of development at Gould, a 1960 graduate, who was Gould track captain in his senior year. Originally conceived to be an appreciation of Joe's role as track coach from 1943 to 1967, it was soon realized that his influence on Gould students encompassed far more than that. More than a dozen of his track captains were on hand Saturday, forming but a nucleus of those wishing to honor him.

The memento presented to Joe last Saturday, a double-barrel Browning shotgun, was from the captains of his track teams, winners of 11 state championships from 1946 to 1961; the sentiments were those of untold numbers of former Gould students and staff members.

Under Joe's tutelage, Gould students learned that while victories were nice, life goes on, win or lose, and that sports and education are but a preparation for what comes after. As Longfellow said many years ago:

Not in the clamor of the crowded street,
Not in the shouts and plaudits of the throng,
But in ourselves, are triumph and defeat!

As one of his track captains, dating from nearly two score years ago, this writer can only say, thanks Joe—teacher, counselor, coach and friend.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

In an article in a recent edition of The Citizen discussing progress on the airport project, I was given credit for donating the land to the town on which the new airstrip is to be built. I wish I could claim such credit, but I cannot; the town was only claiming what was already theirs when it was voted in town meeting to exercise their option on the land to develop a new airstrip.

In order that more people know the history of the Bethel airport and who contributed what, I will attempt to submit a brief outline of the origin of the Bethel airport up to the present time.

In 1945 a group of local people interested in flying decided to do something about establishing a permanent airport. Up to that time, what flying was done locally was out of various farm fields which often flooded in the spring, and tall hay and fences were a hazard at other times.

The location of the airport was chosen for many reasons, probably one of the most important being that it was available. Fred Edwards, a well-known landowner and lumberman of that time, agreed to give the land for the purpose of it being developed into an airport for the benefit of the public. Mr. Edwards was the real donor of the land for the present and future airstrips.

Knowing that the town would not do anything at that time, a group of us formed the Bethel Airport Corp., sold shares at $10 per share, and raised money enough (roughly $10,000) to develop the existing airstrip.

In addition to the land given by Mr. Edwards, a small portion of the old Bethel fairground and racetrack was acquired in exchange for shares in the Airport Corp. from Henry Boyker, who at that time owned and operated what is now the Norseman Inn. This was to allow for a better entrance to the park and also lengthen the strip some.

The approach to the west end of the runway was somewhat hazardous as there were tall pine trees growing right to the end of the runway. The Valentine family, who owned the land at that end, were persuaded to cut the trees and to keep more from growing. This really was quite a sacrifice on their part and I expect is not widely known and properly appreciated.

A second runway was planned on the same heading as the new runway will be, but lack of funds prevented its development.

In 1969, with the bills accumulating and no income, the Airport Corp. sold the present airstrip, plus an option to take, at no cost, a strip of land approximately 400x4,000 feet for the purpose of expanding the airport, to the Town of Bethel for $1. The balance of the land which was donated by Fred Edwards to the Bethel Airport Corp. was sold by bid to Rosenfield Lumber Co.

To the Editor:

I have announced my candidacy for the office of selectman in the Town of Woodstock.

For those who don't know me, I have been a resident of Woodstock for the past nine years. In that time I have been an educator with SAD #44 for eight of those years, and am presently serving on the Planning Board for the town. I am an active, licensed ambulance attendant with Tri-Town Rescue. I have children attending Woodstock Elementary School. I hate paying taxes as much as the next guy, but unfortunately they are a necessary evil. I am presently sales manager with A.L. Williams Co.

I feel that the selectmen need to represent the views of the townspeople, but also have the responsibility to act in the town's best interests and legalities. When these views are in opposition, it becomes the selectmen's job to educate the public and resolve the differences.

While no one will adequately be able to fill Frank Bean's shoes, a substitute must be found. I will serve the town honestly and work hard to achieve these goals.

To the Editor:

I am writing you in hopes you will publish my letter in your newspaper. I was born in Locke Mills in 1963. In 1965 my parents moved to the State of Georgia. My parents were later divorced and I lived with my mother until her death in a car accident in 1969.

I was placed in several foster homes all around Georgia and am presently in prison on a drug conviction.

I feel it might be possible that some of my relatives still live in the area or somebody that knows them might write with some helpful information.

I have never felt so alone in all my life as I do now. My mother's name was Barbara and my father's Gene. If anyone knows of my family or would just like to write and share a smile please write. Any and all information in this matter will be greatly appreciated.

ding the airport, to the Town of Bethel for $1. The balance of the land which was donated by Fred Edwards to the Bethel Airport Corp. was sold by bid to Rosenfield Lumber Co.

The money received was divided among the stockholders and the corporation dissolved. Since that time, the Town of Bethel has owned and operated the Bethel airport.

CHECK SMOKE DETECTORS ON THURSDAY OF FIRE PREVENTION WEEK

Thursday of Fire Prevention Week is the day residents are urged to check their smoke detectors.

"Last year 17 people died in residential fires and thus far this year 14 have died, many of whom would most likely be alive today if they had had an operating smoke detector," said State Fire Marshal Don Bisset of the Maine Department of Public Safety.

Bisset said because Maine law requires all apartments to have smoke detectors there has been a decrease in fatalities; however, there has been an increase in single family dwellings. He said November and December usually result in increased fatalities through the use of heating equipment.

"Fire Prevention Week (Oct. 6 through 12) is a good time to make sure installed smoke detectors are working and for people—especially those who have wood stoves—to purchase them in order to have the crucial early warning time required to save lives from smoke and fire."

Bisset said Thursday, Oct. 10, should be set aside to make sure A-C powered smoke detectors are free from dust, and battery powered smoke detectors have an operable battery and are free from dust so that the detector will be able to signal a life saving alarm should the need arise.

The State Fire Marshal said, "U-I or F-M listed smoke detectors are relatively inexpensive, but more important—when properly installed—they work!"

Parenting Project tackles substance abuse

"Communicating with Your Young Child About Substance Abuse" will be the topic of the first Parenting Project program, sponsored by SAD #44. This evening seminar for parents and interested community members will be held at the Crescent Park School library tonight, Oct. 9, at 7 p.m. Becky Hardy, of the Bethel Area Health Center staff, will be the presenter.

The Parenting Project program is designed to help parents discuss the problems of substance abuse with their grade-school children, covering such areas as abuse of alcohol and drugs. A brief film will be shown, and there will be an opportunity for discussion and questions.

This program is the first of a fall series of 12 individual programs to be held in Andover, Bethel and Bryant Pond as part of the Parenting Project. Other topics include First Aid in the Home, Discipline and the Young Child, Teenagers and the Law, Nutrition and Child Behavior, The Family in the '80s, and Discipline and Teenagers.

For a complete listing of locations and dates of programs, contact the SAD #44 Adult and Community Education office, 824-2780. All programs are free.

Nominations needed for ASC Committee

Farmers are being asked to nominate candidates of their choice, by Oct. 25, to be on the ballot for the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service Community Committee.

The ASC community committee election will be conducted by mail ballot from Nov. 22 to Dec. 2. The five ASC communities in Oxford County are:

Community A: Brownfield, Denmark, Hiram, Porter, Stow, Fryeburg, Lovell and Sweden.

Community B: Stoneham, Waterford, Norway, Greenwood, Mason, Bethel, Gilead and Albany.

Community C: Paris, Oxford, Otisfield, West Paris, Woodstock.

Community D: Buckfield, Hebron, Hartford, Canton, Sumner.

Community E: Lincoln, Magalloway, Newry, Upton, Hanover, Milton, Byron, Mexico, Roxbury, Andover, Rumford, Dixfield, Peru.

ASC committees are responsible for managing government farm programs on the local level. "To meet the needs of individual producers, ASC committee members must be concerned and responsible individuals," said Roger Smedberg, chairman of the Oxford County ASC Committee.

Oxford County farmers have the opportunity to nominate persons they feel would best serve the farm community.

Farmers will receive petition forms by mail soon, and can complete and submit them to the county ASCS office.

A few basic considerations should be kept in mind when circulating petitions, Mr. Smedberg said. In order to be valid, petitions must be limited to one nominee each, must include written certification that the nominee is willing to serve if elected, must be signed by at least three eligible farm voters in the ASC community, and must be received in the county ASCS office by Oct. 25, the deadline.

Farmers may circulate or sign nominating petitions for as many candidates as they wish. Anyone wishing to nominate a farmer for the ASC committee election may contact the county ASCS office for full details, including eligibility requirements for office-holders.

CHAMBER PLANS SUPPER

Local gem expert helps find large tourmaline deposit

A deposit of tourmaline, apatite and other rare minerals recently discovered at the Mount Rubellite Quarry, in Hebron, may prove to be one of western Maine's most important mineral discoveries, according to State Geologist Walter Anderson, of the Maine Geological Survey.

The discovery was made on Labor Day by mineral collectors Priscilla and Levi Chavarie, of Winthrop, and Jim Mann, of Bethel.

Tourmaline—Maine's state mineral—is a crystalline material occurring in a variety of colors, including beautiful transparent varieties valuable as gemstones.

Western Maine tourmaline is "world class," according to Mr. Anderson, who says the quality of the local red, green and deep blue gemstones is among the best in the world.

Woodrow Thompson, a survey geologist, says the first discovery of gem tourmaline in Maine was made by children in Paris, Me., in 1820. "Apparently, the children found the gemstones on Mt. Mica, among the roots of an upturned tree."

He said the site of the recent discovery has been visited by Carl Francis, curator of minerals at the Harvard University Museum. According to Mr. Thompson, Curator Francis believes the discovery may prove to be the most significant find of rare minerals in Maine since the discovery of gem tourmaline in Newry, in 1972. The strike at Newry yielded tourmaline valued at hundreds of thousands of dollars, including the foot-long crystal called "The Jolly Green Giant," which is now on display at the Smithsonian Institution, in Washington.

Mrs. Chavarie, one of the discoverers of the new site, says she and her husband have been exploring the area where the discovery was made since 1969, and over the years have found modest amounts of tourmaline. Mrs. Chavarie—who operates a mineral shop in Winthrop—says she has been interested in western Maine's minerals since she was a child. "I'm from Paris, where my grandfather operated a rose quartz mine. My first job was working for Dick Nevel, who operated the quarry at Hebron, where we made this discovery."

According to Bethel's Jim Mann, one of the other discoverers of the site, Mount Rubellite is the first place in North America where a mineral called pollicite was mined back in the 1920s. "It was mined for General Electric Company and used in the electronics industry," Mr. Mann said.

One of the most spectacular specimens found this fall in Hebron is a 20- to 30-pound crystalline mass of pink tourmaline. This variety of tourmaline is called "rubellite," and gave the mountain its name. A number of purple and lavender apatite crystals have also been found. "Outside of Maine, good apatites of this color have only been found in five or six locations in the entire world," Mr. Mann said. The best have come from the Mt. Apatite quarries, in Auburn.

According to survey geologist Thompson, the minerals discovered at Mount Rubellite do not have industrial value, but are important to collectors and the scientific community. "Thousands of amateur collectors—better known as rockhounds—come to New England each year. They are a small but important part of the tourist industry, especially in places like western Maine. We receive hundreds of requests from them each year for information, and we're now preparing a guidebook to recreational mineral collecting. Of course, collecting at Mount Rubellite is not allowed, but there are many other old quarries and mines which offer collecting opportunities," Mr. Thompson said.

According to Bethel's Mann, the new pit will be mined "until snow comes." The minerals are being removed by digging, drilling and blasting with dynamite. "We're working slowly and carefully. Heavy mining would probably destroy many of the minerals we're looking for," he said.

power lines, Mr. Thompson said the company follows a four-year cycle in covering the 17,000 miles of line.

"Fortunately," he said, "a storm like that doesn't occur here only every 30 years."

"It hit us worse than anything in the company's history," he added.

The Sept. 27 hurricane, which, as far as could be determined, went right over Newry, knocked out 250,000 of CMP's 435,000 customers. But 200,000 of those were restored by Saturday night. By late last week, the number of customers still not re-connected had dwindled to a few hundred, mostly camps off the beaten path.

In repairing damage after the storm, the company used 140 line crews, with 280 line workers, plus support crews to answer phones, etc.

About 400 company employees were handling up to 500 phonecalls per hour. And New England Telephone reported rejecting an additional 2,000 calls every half hour during the peak of the restoration process.

In the Bethel area, CMP district manager John Elliot worked two days straight without sleep, but then had to wait for equipment from other areas to do the remaining hook-ups.

In addition to dropping tree limbs on power lines, the storm also knocked over more than 100 poles. That was nothing compared with the damage caused by hurricanes Carol and Edna in 1954, when 1,200 poles went over. At that time, it took two weeks to restore service fully.

CMP officials felt the company's response to Gloria was better than their response to Carol and Edna.

"But we've told him we're not going to wait much longer," Mr. McKeller continued. "He's strung us out long enough already."

Asked if a new owner would have time to open the resort in time for this winter's ski season, the FAME official said, "That's a good question." He pointed out that refurbishing work is needed on the lifts and the snowmaking equipment before any of it can be used.

BRINGING IN THE HARVEST: Workers stand by the conveyor belt carrying Arthur Ladd's potatoes into his mother's barn on Rte. 2 in Bethel. The workers removed damaged potatoes as well as rocks as the spuds traveled from truck to barn. The potatoes will be sold to processors later in the season, according to Ralph Thurston, who was supervising the work.

when the budget money ran out. The date of completion for the job is March 15. Work is expected to begin in January.

The contract to be signed with Mr. Olson stipulates that the town will purchase the materials and will pay the contractor 10 percent over cost for his efforts in arranging the purchases. This is the same method used in constructing the ambulance garage and town officials believe it saves money by getting better discounts for prompt payment. The town will also pay him and his crew for the labor put in on the job.

The selectmen examined Mr. Olson's bid specifications, wondering if money could be saved by downgrading some of them, such as the quality of the solid-core birch doors or even the commode. After it was determined that the commode was to be an ordinary white one, Selectmen Victor Coolidge suggested as an economical alternative, "We could put a two-hole, wind-powered one in there."

The board instructed Town Manager Lynch to order Mr. Olson to shop around for the best prices when he is ordering materials.

The board approved increased rates for highway department equipment. The rates are those charged out to the various town budgets as well as to outside agencies, such as the state and county, that hire town equipment.

Sharp rate increases were approved for the town's new grader, which will now be billed at $50 an hour for grading and $55 an hour for plowing. The rate for the old grader had been $25. The rates went up on other vehicles as well, such as the 4x4 pickup, which had been pegged at $6.25 an hour for plowing and will now be billed at $18 an hour. Chairman Jodrey said, "We don't want to be working for any less than the going rate." All rates include gas, oil, and maintenance, but not an operator's wages.

In other business, the selectmen signed the election warrants for the Nov. 5 referendum election, which will contain the controversial alternatives on low-level radioactive waste site selection.

The selectmen authorized the town manager to hire a recording secretary for the Planning Board—for no more than 10 hours a month.

The board approved concealed weapons permits for James Mann, Levi Brown, Glenn Myers, George Nickerson and Donald Luxton.

Oxford Hills H.S. scores given to SAD #17 board

SAD #17 Superintendent Ken Smith released the SAT scores of the Oxford Hills High School Class of 1985 to the Board of Directors at their Monday night meeting.

The 1985 scores are 441 in verbal (compared with 432 statewide, and 462 at Telstar) and 478 in math (compared with 466 statewide, and 452 at Telstar).

OHHS Guidance Director Bob Clifford noted that his school's averages have been above the state averages in every year but one, since 1972. In 1984, OHHS seniors scored 454 in verbal and 521 in math, he said.

averages have been going up in recent years.

Nationally, only 40 percent of graduating seniors took the SAT's, whereas in Maine 56 percent of seniors took the tests. At Telstar, with 40 of 75 seniors taking the test, the average was 53 percent. As state officials note, normally when the percentage of test takers increases, the test score averages decrease.

Stiffer penalties may decrease OUI offenses

Stiffer penalties for repeat offenders of the operating under the influence (OUI) law went into effect last month. Acting Chairman of the Maine Highway Safety Committee, Arthur A. Stilphen, said, "Since repeat (OUI) offenders are involved in about 25 percent of highway fatalities, hopefully these penalties will be enough to deter them from getting behind the wheel to drive after they've had too much to drink."

Under the new penalties, a second-time conviction will result in a minimum fine of $500, seven days in jail and a license suspension of one year. For the third and subsequent convictions, the minimum penalty is a $750 fine, 30 days in jail and license suspension for two years.

Through August, there were 138 highway fatalities in Maine—75 percent of them involved alcohol, Mr. Stilphen said.

DISTEMPER OUTBREAK WARNING

Dog owners in central Maine are being advised to take precautions to protect their animals from an outbreak of distemper.

The Department of Inland Fisheries and Wildlife highly recommends that dogs receive annual check-ups, vaccines and booster shots—especially raccoon hunting dogs preparing for the fall season.

Regional Biologist Eugene Dumont says numerous confirmed and suspected cases of distemper have been observed in raccoons and skunks in the Kennebec County area this summer. A similar outbreak of distemper was reported last year from the Waterville area. Distemper of raccoons is caused by a virus, known as Canine Distemper Complex, and occurs worldwide, Dumont says.

"All canines, including domestic dogs, foxes and coyotes, are highly susceptible to this disease. Symptoms vary, but include watery discharge from inflamed eyes and nose, lack of appetite, and nervous fits and twitching," he adds.

MUSIC COURSES OFFERED BY ADULT ED

SAD #44 Adult and Community Education will offer several courses this fall relating to music. To enroll or for additional information call 824-2780. The Community Chorus and Band, under the direction of SAD #44 Music Director Harry Davis is meeting on Tuesdays, with chorus at 8:30 and band at 8:00. Preparation will be made for a variety of Christmas performances.

Music lessons—both piano and band instruments—are offered on a self-supporting basis by the Adult and Community Education program. These are open to children and adults, and there are openings for piano students, as well as for band instruments. Teachers are Mary Valentine, Susan Davis and Liz Mikenas.

A new course—Fun with Keyboard Chords—will be taught by Mary Lyon, a retired music teacher living in Bryant Pond. This course will be a music theory course for those with limited musical knowledge and will meet on Monday evenings.

Pretty potato picker Melissa Fish, of Milton Plantation, was in Bethel last week helping to harvest Arthur Ladd's potato crop.

Mr. Roderick's first team and the first to greet his former coach, Warren Tibbetts, '67, of Bethel, his last track captain, was also there.

There were also other local track captains there: John Brown, '47, of Bethel; Gerry Emery, '51, of Hanover; Sonny Hastings, '53, of West Bethel; Paul Stevens, '57, of Rumford; John Todd, '60, of Bethel; and Danny Grover, '63, of Bethel.

The surprise for Mr. Roderick came at the luncheon, attended by over 350 alumni and friends. Headmaster Bill Clough cited him as one of the most influential teachers in the academy's history. A physical education instructor 40 years ahead of his time, Mr. Roderick taught his boys and girls more than tumbling and sports. He was also a surrogate father and a demanding teacher, who insisted on honesty, good manners, and maximum effort.

Following Mr. Clough's remarks, John Todd, Dick Ireland, '49 (son of former Headmaster Elwood F. Ireland) and Gerry Davis, '49, praised Coach Roderick on behalf of his former track captains and the entire alumni body. Mr. Ireland then presented the former coach a gift from all the track captains from 1943 to 1967—a Browning double-barrelled, 20-gauge shotgun and case.

Coach Roderick turned the tables on his audience with a five-minute speech in which he complimented Gould Academy on its continued excellence, evoked laughter from the audience with some original Maine humor, and became serious when he focused on his own full life. He said he was most fortunate to have come to work everyday with a smile on his face. He loved his job, as evidenced by the positive impact he had on so many Gould alumni. He ended by quoting Dickens: "God bless us all, each and every one." A standing ovation ensued.

Other highlights of the alumni weekend included the announcement at the alumni banquet that sesquicentennial festivities will start with a gala open house and reception on Saturday afternoon, Jan. 4. On Feb. 2, at 3 p.m., Gould alumni, parents, and friends will be able to enjoy a Sunday afternoon at the Portland Pops, followed by a sumptuous buffet dinner in the State of Maine room in Portland City Hall.

Two hundred tickets (orchestra seating) will go on sale in early November on a first-come first-served basis. For early reservations, call the Alumni Office, at 824-2161, extension 128 or 129.

Jail personnel receive reprimands over escape

Following the escape last month of Joseph Perham, Jr., of West Paris, being held in the county jail on charges of attempted murder, three jailers received formal reprimands from Sheriff Alton Howe.

The three, whom Sheriff Howe declined to name, had letters of reprimand placed in their personnel folders. The action came, the sheriff told The Citizen, following formal hearings at which the three corrections officers were allowed to present their side of the situation.

In addition to the letters of reprimand, one jailer was put on probation for one year, one for six months, and one received a one-week suspension without pay.

Mr. Perham escaped Sept. 22 while in the exercise yard with other prisoners. When a guard watching them was called inside, the prisoner climbed up onto the roof of an adjacent building and jumped over the 12-foot wall. Although a search, with tracking dogs, was begun shortly thereafter, the trail ended at the Norway dump and Mr. Perham has not been spotted since, though there have been a number of alleged sightings of the fugitive.

Mr. Perham was being held for grand jury action looking into the charges that he attempted to murder two people in West Paris in July. The grand jury was expected to issue an indictment in the case later today (Wednesday), according to court officials.

The fund-raising project is still underway at the Bethel Area Health Center. Members of the fund-raising committee are enthusiastic about donations received this week.

A second mailing concerning the new building was mailed this past week. If, by any chance, a letter was sent and you have already taken part in the project, please discard the letter.

Names of participants this week are National Training Laboratory; Maine Street Ready-Ginger Kelly; Om Wadhwa, M.D.; and Usha Wadhwa, M.D.; Frank W. Packard; Dick Rasmussen; and staff of The Bethel Inn; Millie Wentzell; and William H. and Margaret L. Cousins.

We have reached $84,000 on our thermometer. We're nearing our goal of $98,600.

SAD #44 ADULT ED. STAFF ARE WORKSHOP PRESENTERS

Several members of the SAD #44 Adult and Community Education staff are sharing their expertise with others at a variety of training sessions this term, according to Cathy Newell, Director of Adult and Community Education. Randall Bennett, coordinator of the External Credit Option program for adults in SAD #44, has presented training sessions on the External Credit Option method in Turner, Madawaska and Mount Desert Island during the past few weeks, and expects to continue these sessions under the auspices of the Adult Education Staff Development program.

Ann Holt has been selected as a presenter at the annual state-wide Adult Education Conference to be held on Oct. 4-5 at Sugarloaf. Miss Holt, who runs the Adult Learning Center at Telstar Regional High School, will offer a workshop on Successful GED Intake Procedures.

Mrs. Newell expressed satisfaction that the talents of SAD #44 staff are being recognized, allowing individuals to share their talents.

Wednesday was a rather dark and dreary day after all the sunshine of yesterday. It was a gorgeous day and the ride to North Bridgton to the doctor was a pretty one. The lakes were like mirrors, reflecting the trees, camps and what-have-you all around the lake. The foliage over by Hobbs Pond was so bright and red, it was a beautiful sight to see. All of the Good Lord's work is a wonder! Even the hurricane of last Friday was a wonder. At times we wondered if the trees would come down on the mobile home, but were spared that. One nearly came down on Peggy's little metal building, but Lawrence, Alvin and Russell got it down without any damage. Some limbs broke off and of course, we were without power for a long time like so many others. It got rather cold and chilly at home and I guess it didn't help the bronchitis any as I still seem to have it. I had thought it a little better before the weekend without any heat, but right back again.

I suggested we play dominoes on Friday night after the worst of the storm was over and we did. It was like old times back on the farm when we did things like that by lamp light. We wonder now how we ever did all the little things without electric lights, but we always managed and had to for a couple of days this time. I was afraid we would lose the things in our freezer, but the power came back on in time to save it and we are most grateful. Those who had to go without electricity too long have had a great loss where freezers are concerned. We used to can all the produce from the garden and maybe we should do more of it now and not stand the chance of losing it when the power goes off. We were dumbfounded on Saturday morning to find the phone out of order as it was alright all throughout the storm and my sister-in-law said she was talking on it at eleven at night on Friday. Surprise, surprise, the next morning to find a dead line when I started to call my daughter in Lewiston to see if they were alright. We never knew what is in store for us next and I guess it is a good thing.

Russell and I had expected our bean poles would be flat but they weren't and if Jack Frost holds off a little longer, maybe we will harvest some shell beans, after all. Things have been so late this year that we didn't expect to get as much as we have. We put up another batch of zucchini relish yesterday and have frozen some squash and Russell is in the process of fixing more to freeze. Bought a few pumpkins to freeze also. We like pumpkin cake and even if I can't have it, Russell enjoys it.

Had a Grange meeting at Bear River Grange on Saturday night and didn't seem to have power and wondered why as it looked like Helen Morton across the road had some. Anyway, we went ahead and got supper and ate by candle light and then one of the men folk discovered that one of the fuses wasn't in as far as it should be and presto, we had lights. We had the pleasure of having supper by candle light anyway and that hasn't happened for a very long time. At the meeting, Josephine Tripp and Mary Billings were presented their fifty year certificates. Awarding them to the ladies was Chester Hayes of Winthrop Grange, Shelburne, N.H. Russell Yates gave each of the ladies a bouquet of flowers that we had picked from his flowers out here in

The hurricane didn't do any damage here, but were all without electric power for a few hours, and we had a heavy rain. Mrs. Debra Tripp of Oxford visited her grandmother, Mrs. Sarah Grover, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Grover are attending the lumberman's convention at Prouts Neck, Portland, for a few days.

Mrs. Helen Grover went to Portland Thursday to see her doctor.

Mr. and Mrs. Green of New York are visiting their son Charles and family for a few weeks.

Grant Leonard brought a bus load up sightseeing from Pennsylvania to a supper served by the church Thursday night. The Senior Citizens' band of South Paris furnished entertainment. Mary Grover was in charge of the supper.

front of the house. They had weathered the storm enough to let us make a couple of bouquets. I don't expect to be writing about Bear River Grange any more as we have taken out demils and plan to join a Grange nearer home. It is a long way to go to Newry Corner and not have enough there to have a meeting, so we decided we would like to join nearer home. We wish Bear River Grange the best and hope that they can get new members and grow to become a real good Grange. Good luck.

Sunday was the first day of Fryeburg Fair and we all went. Russell and I went with Peggy; Lawrence and Grace went with their car, and my daughter and family met us here and went in their car, so we all got to the fair. The day was a grand one and there was a lot to see and we didn't get to see all we would have liked to. I like to see the animals, but my legs wouldn't carry me far enough to do it all. Did go to see the sights in the Expo buildings and all the goodies being sold along the midway or at least part of them. Watched Courtney have a ride or two and watched the pig scramble which is one of my favorites. Both pigs and kids get completely tickered out with all the running. We couldn't have had a nicer day or nicer company. Saw a number of people I knew but not to speak to them. Sometimes I would like to go when the horses are racing as I like to watch them go, but the show was good and the kids there did a great job with their horses. One small boy especially took my eye, as he could sure ride his little horse and the horse did what the boy asked of him. It was a pleasure to see the two of them in the different events. They both had a lot of spunk. We took our lunch and ate by the car and didn't have to crowd to get what we wanted. It seems so much easier and especially with the two little girls to get lunch for. They were good and had a good time. Guess we all had as good a time as possible.

The leaves are turning color more and more every day and so many tours to see the foliage are planned. Some are too early and some too late. Just can't out-guess Mother Nature. I am going to Sugarloaf with my daughter this weekend and we hope to see lots of pretty color on the way. She has to attend a seminar and I will be babysitter for the girls. Guess it will be alright if this old bug doesn't try to get me down too low. Let you know next week how things come out.

Was Gloria kind to everyone? In our section we were lucky for we had power but it did a lot of damage otherwise. We lost a large maple tree in back of the house and the flowering crab was almost flat. Joe propped it up, but we don't expect it to amount to anything. I'm glad she didn't stay long and do more damage. It hurt the orchards.

Sympathy is extended to the family of George Ridley Sr. of Harrison who was a former resident here and to the family of Leonard Pierson. Both boys passed on during the past week. Lennie worked at the West Paris dump for several months.

Earl Newton and several of his sons are helping Harlan Abbott with his winter's wood.

Earl Cordwell was taken back to Norway hospital Oct. 2 after a few days at home. He is in serious condition. He is diabetic, so the stump where the leg was removed hasn't healed a bit. Mrs. Cordwell stays with him night and day. Tri-Town ambulance crew are very faithful.

All roads led to Fryeburg Fair this week. The foliage was beautiful and so was the weather on Tuesday for senior citizens' day and the grounds were crammed with fair goers. The Vatchers came home early as Joe had a dental appointment to have a front tooth repaired to match one he had made on Sept. 20. No more opening pop bottles with the teeth. It is too expensive. He couldn't mail his teeth in. When one can't walk around too much, fairs are not much fun.

Community Club meeting was held Wednesday evening, Oct. 2 and final plans were made for the ham supper to be held Oct. 26.

Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Poland had a welcome home party on Sunday for their daughter, Sue and family of Richmond, Va., and their son, Sgt. Kenneth Russell, who is stationed in Hawaii. Sue and family are visiting for one week and Ken will be here three weeks. Forty friends and relatives enjoyed a bountiful buffet lunch and the weather was beautiful for outdoor sports and just plain visiting.

Rabbit hunting started Oct. 1, so Eveline used the hurricane weather to advantage. She made 12 beef pot pies and 7 regular size apple pies and put them in the freezer unbaked. When company comes unexpectedly, she can throw a pie in the oven and keep right on gabbling. Try it sometime. Joe Vatcher likes to pare apples.

Callers at Lawrence's: Marge Fuller, Odell Heath, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Downing, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Penley Sr., Joe Kalinowski, Lena Dean, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Bean, Arnold Coffin, Joe and Eveline Vatcher.

Doris Lawrence went with Mr. and Mrs. Albert Penley Sr. to Fryeburg Fair Tuesday for senior citizens' day.

By COLISTA MORGAN

How delightful are the hills at this time of year!

I visited a field, where at the first of July, I could hardly believe then, winter ever touches it, for it was dry and hot there.

The wind that played on the pond silvered its surface as it marched in diamonds. Grasses shook thousands of seeds which guaranteed their continuance. Grasses have little of the glamour of the wild rose, yet their usefulness out weighs that of any flower, even though the flowers are brighter and showier.

Today, Oct. 1, the sound of bees was almost soporific. These bumblebees are hummers and bumblebees, noisy, but as colorful as a butterfly. They don't look for trouble. They eat when hungry, rest when tired, sleep at night and are not thieves or killers. Blue is a color they like and respond to a bunch rather than a single flower. I like them.

I was going nowhere in particular. I was just alone with the day. For company I had the waters, the trees, the sky, the asters, the bees, butterflies, trailing vines; all with no intruders. The peace was mine.

I love nature—autumn foliage and hills so I left for higher ground.

How can one endure four walls when there are these things. So I went to the tune of the breeze so mellow in the trees.

All was beautiful that could be seen. Uphill or down, the quiet woody places scarcely gave me a glimpse of the valley but the fields did.

"October always casts a magic spell Upon me. I should know, too well, What nature's autumn wine Will do to hearts like mine."

Alice B. Johnson

The softness of lingering summer was blended with the coolness on this hill where autumn was preening herself in gorgeous array for the grand finale soon to come.

I took the old return-home road where firs and hemlocks hold hands over my head. This road now can be called a clutching, clinging path. Then my eyes were focused upon our cabin, all but smothered in a blaze of beauty, wrapt in tranquility and at peace with autumn. It was a symbol of happiness and quietness for which many strive but few find.

"Gloria" has been the main topic for most of us. Except for our freezers we just turned back time for forty years. We had water, heat, and lights. I recalled studying by these same lamps. Our power was gone for forty hours.

Frank and Dot Curtis had the following callers: Ralph and Regina Leeper, Westport; Alton Kimball, Watford; Eva Felton, Kathy Curtis, local; Lynda Brown, Barbara Bean, Augusta; Mildred Bowman, Hebron.

Doris Hayes stayed with her grandson, Wallace Hayes and wife, Nancy, over the night of the hurricane.

Early Tuesday morning there was the click-clack of horses' hooves on the road. No riders, just roamers. Could it have been Ichabod Crane from Sleepy Hollow in Greenwood town?

Clyde and I were in Portland again where I had another appointment.

Mr. and Mrs. and Pat DiArenzo have as guests their son and family from Pennsylvania.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Curtis were in Buckfield for a "clambake" at their son, Albert's on Saturday. On Sunday they had dinner with Evelyn Heikkinen in Mexico and on Monday visited their folks in Freeport.

Northwest Bethel

By CLARICE GIBSON

We had a beautiful week after Gloria; but today (Saturday) we are getting some rain. A lot of people are still having trouble with their water supplies.

Sylvia Benson and I went to Mollycoddet Friday to use the swimming pool and the color of the leaves was spectacular. Think this will be the peak of the season, but wonder if the rains won't hurt it.

Last weekend Jim, Sue and Heather came from Freeport to help their father get in apples. They didn't have any lights when they came up Saturday, but said they did have power when they got back late Sunday afternoon. After dinner Sunday, George, Jim, Sue, Heather, Theresa and Ira went up to Shelburne, N.H., and went on a nature walk.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Bond visited his sister, Thelma Merrill, Joe and Gerry Shimamura, Saturday and Sunday. They came from Pittsfield, N.H.

Ernest and Alberta Angevine, Let and Ruth Butters took a picnic and went to South Arm recently.

Monday Ernest and Alberta Angevine went to Fryeburg Fair. They have also taken a trip to Boothbay and another time went to Rochester and Farmington, N.H., and called on Bertha Lewis in Farmington, N.H.

Dick, Sue and Kristy Angevine were at the folks, Ernest and Alberta Angevine's, for Sunday dinner. Later Dick and family attended Fryeburg Fair.

Donald, Karen, Nathan and Matthew Bean recently had a family get-together at their home to help Karen celebrate her birthday. Attending were her brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. Eric Gulbrandsen and son Colin of Lovell; sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Goldsmith, Megan and Barrett, Newton, Mass.; sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Hank Williams, Milford, Mass.; sister, Kristin Gulbrandsen; friend, John Morgan; parents, Dr. and Mrs. Melvin Gulbrandsen, all of Wellesley, Mass., and friend, Donna Hoban, Waltham, Mass.

Newry

By AMY HANSCOM

This was the first time all of Karen's family have been to their place since they bought and moved in.

Richard Saunders of New York picked up his brother, Robert Saunders, Marlborough, Mass., and arrived home to Pat Saunders' Sept. 25. They got together at Pat's to help celebrate Richard's birthday and to see their niece, Sheena Marie Hunt. David, Roberta and Sheena Hunt came over. Also at the gathering were Nancy Howard and Jack Greig.

Jack Greig and Pat Saunders spent the weekend at Fryeburg Fair.

Sunday callers of Frank and Sylvia Benson were Frank Jr. and Carol Benson, Augusta, and their new great grandson came with his grandparents.

Bob and Joyce Stearns, Debbie, Dawn, Ryan and Rusty Seames went to the fair Wednesday to celebrate Debbie's birthday. Her birthday date is Friday, but as Deb was making Melinda's wedding cake, she was working on that Friday.

Joe Shimamura went to South Portland to have an impacted wisdom tooth removed. Joe had to take a few days off from his kitchen job at Gould. Gould Academy students and faculty sent him a giant get well card.

Frank Aylward went last week as a day patient at St. Mary's, Lewiston, to have pressure relieved on his eye. Their daughter, Alicia Marcinyzyk, came and took her parents down and stayed until Thursday. She came back Friday and stayed until Monday. Conrad and Doris Parent of Newry stopped in to see the Aylwards.

The Dan Hannon family liked up to Ben Gordon's camp and had a breathtaking view.

Elaine, Shilo and Misty Hutchins; Sally, Amy and Mary Beth Hannon went to Fryeburg Fair Tuesday after school.

The subject of Pastor Hanscom's message Sunday morning was "Face to Face" with Scripture reading from Corinthians 13:8-13.

Mr. and Mrs. William Brooke, Samantha and Katlin, Augusta, were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Owen Wight Sunday, Sept. 30.

Mr. and Mrs. Verne Glover, Hollis, were at their camp during the weekend.

Senior citizens are reminded that the deadline for filing for refunds under the Elderly Persons Tax and Rent Refund Program is Oct. 15. Applications are available at the town office or from the State Bureau of Taxation, Augusta, Maine 04333.

Thelma Lowery, Eleanor Morton, Eleanor Davis, Beatrice Lowell, Olive Anderson, Gilbert Seeley, Louise Tetley, Frances Davis and Christine Largeesse were in Rumford bowling Oct. 2. Louise Tetley was high scorer. Correction: Last week's account of bowling listed Betsy Blake. It should have been Betsy Clark.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Davis are receiving congratulations on the birth of a daughter at Rumford Community Hospital Oct. 3. She has been named Deanna Lynn.

The Windy Valleys Snowmobile Club wishes to thank all who helped make the annual fall lawn and bake sale such a huge success. The proceeds of this sale will be turned in during the February Snowmobile Ride-In to Rumford. Any items of clothing not sold during the sale are taken to the What Not Shop in Rumford and thus directly benefit the Oxford County Association for Retarded Children, as does the entire amount of funds raised at the annual sale.

Earl and Mary Keniston and family visitors, Carl and Lona (Keniston) Meaux of Centerville, Ohio, attended a family gathering in Lewiston on October 1. Others present were Marion Arsenault; Jim Lariviere, Doug and Bonnie (Arsenault) VanDurme and children Erica and Travis, Dennis and Debbie Arsenault and two daughters, Mrs. Paul (Betty) Arsenault and daughter Jennifer, all of Norway; Lee and Linda Arsenault and Renee of South Paris; Mrs. Paul Hallee (Judy Lapham) and son Gregg of Lisbon Fall; Mrs. Muriel Lapham Kimball and son Matthew, Wade and Sue Kimball and two children of South Waterford; Mrs. Robert Gerry (Brenda Kimball) and three children of Fryeburg; and Mrs. Bernard Wakefield (Linda Kimball) and three sons of Harrison.

Bethel Senior Citizens joining a tour of Canada (Agawa Canyon, Mackinac Island, Sault St. Marie, Soo Locks, Toronto, Niagara Falls) were Mr. and Mrs. James Brown, Betty Blake, Ethel Ward, Doris Fraser, Julia Brown, Martha Von Zintl and Arlene Brown of Salem, N.H. Linda Lord of Brewer has spent the last week visiting with her sister, Cheryl Lord. Joining them for last weekend were their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lord of Brewer.

Lots of folks are packing for Florida. That's always a sure sign that cold weather is upon us. I guess we brave souls will stay behind to weather the storm, so to speak. Mainers are a tough breed... is that why y'all are called Mainiacs?

Hurricane Gloria sure turned out to be a "Big Bag of Wind", didn't she? It certainly could have been a lot worse and everyone I've talked with is glad she "popped" out before getting to us.

The Caron family took a ride up to the Balsams last weekend to see the foliage. The color was muted, understated, but still worthy of a few "look at that" comments. We stopped at the balloon store for a certain little munchkin and she went crazy looking at everything. Jaime befriended a dog while we were there and I think the dog was glad to see her leave. Friendly dog, but she had the nasty habit of dunking herself in the spring and then coming over for a visit... just long enough to dribble water on our shoes.

For those of you suffering from the "in the rut syndrome", more commonly known as "hoof in mouth disease" here is a little advice that might help to pick up your spirits... remember, I said, "might":

"When you have taken everything you can stand Stand your ground, hold the fort, with stand the pain. And if, when you're running, It seems the wind is always in your face Just keep on running, 'cause the wind The wind is bound to change..."

Dorothy Canwell, Oxford, took Bertha Benoit, Westbrook, and Olive Davis to Augusta where they attended an afternoon tea promoted by Clyde Berry, State Grange Lecturer, and helpers, for the purpose of presenting awards to the lecturers from all over the state of Maine. Recognition awards for outstanding service as lecturers and achievement awards, also, as correspond monthly to Grange Herald were my awards.

I brought home a first blue ribbon to Lyndell Farr and Viva Whitman for poetry sent in by them and a red ribbon for Viva on complete program written out in full. Audrey Hadley had recognition award and achievement, also, Grange Herald award. Anna Henderson received a recognition award. I planned to deliver these to them at Pomona meeting at West Paris Tuesday night, Oct. 2.

Esther Davis and Edith Deegan took in Fryeburg Fair Sept. 29. Eva Twitchell and Kay Billings were in attendance that day also.

Upton

By ARLINE BERNIER

Laurie and her parents attended the old time logging film presentation at Bingham Hall, Gould Academy, Thursday evening. A lady from New Jersey, and more recently Rumford, asked me several questions and explained it was a new field for her as she wasn't a native. She added that she'd been told that to be a Maine native she had to either be born here or have killed a moose out of season. Maybe I should change the latter part to say "or to have killed a dozen coyotes, in or out of season." Even if it caused a rush on them, there'd be plenty of the dangerous critters left.

The road commissioner hooked some coon traps onto a heavy piece of metal on the ground and it all disappeared. Maybe that's a sign it is going to be a long cold winter and a bear wanted a good storm door on his cave.

The craft fair at Sunday River was very interesting. The weather for the most part was ideal. My balsams and bead table evolved into a clock cap and bead show.

Laurie and I went to Auburn one evening last week to purchase a water bed for her. Might be handy to have in case of drought.

The Edwards families are spending their vacations in Upton and doing some bird hunting.

Little Andy Aron was home a few days this week. He attends school in Berlin, N.H.

Out-of-town guests joining a family gathering on Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Brown were Mrs. Iona Brown and Paul Goodridge of Athens. Other callers at the Browns' later in the day were Ron, Jennie and Robbie McKinstry, Waterville.

Gilead

By LOUISE LORING

We were lucky here in Gilead as "Gloria" smiled upon us. All day long people prepared their picture windows by taping them, and moving everything that was left outdoors inside. The kerosene lamp wicks were trimmed and candles set out, and for those of us who burn wood, extra supplies were toted to the wood boxes. That evening, as the skies darkened, the wind velocity began to pick up and at 8:30 p.m. the lights flickered several times, due to gusty winds. We never lost our power here as did our more unfortunate neighbors and other than a few wash-outs and small limbs down, you would never know that Gloria had even passed our way.

This past week was a sad one for our little town, as the village store closed its doors. The gas company came to pump out the rest of the gas and all mourn its passing, as another era in history seems to have come to a final demise.

The Gilead Women's Club wishes to announce that all donations for the annual Halloween party for Gilead children will be gathered as usual this year. They may be left with Bev Corriveau, George MacArthur or Linda Smith. Final announcements of this event will be provided later.

Correction: It was erroneously printed that Mary "Belanger" was getting up her winter wood. Apologies are in order. This brave, strong lady remains Mary Cole, who is in her 80's and still going strong.

Anita Ferrand has been entertaining her daughter, Bobby Murley, and grandson, Larry, of Georgia and her son, Danny Ferrand and family of New Jersey this past week.

W. BETHEL CHILDREN'S CENTER

The Children's Center's programs are in full swing with a very full schedule of activities and events. Children have watched butterflies emerge from their chrysalis state, read butterfly stories, painted butterflies, and created their own clothespin butterflies.

The children have also made the most of the apple harvest season. They had an informative tour of Stearns Apple Orchard, in Albany, being led by B&B Orchard. A special thanks to Mr. Wing for his generosity. Children picked four different varieties of apples, then made their own apple sauce at the center. They also had a taste of cider at the orchard. Many more apple activities are planned.

Next week children will be taking field trips to collect their own autumn treasures. Children have made a beautiful fall collage, and will be doing more work around the fall theme.

The star of the week was delightful Jenny Mae Wheeler, who is almost five and lives in Bethel.

There are several openings for children ages 2½ to six years in the daycare program. The center has an excellent early-childhood educational program that is geared towards social, emotional, physical and intellectual development in children, besides providing quality care in a home-like environment.

The daycare fee is based on a sliding scale that takes family size and income into consideration. Children whose parents are employed, actively seeking employment, attending school full-time, or in a family crisis situation are eligible for services. Children who have special needs may also be eligible for the program. Please call the center, at 836-3700, and ask for Lorraine or Donna, if you are interested in daycare.

BOOSTERS TO MEET

An organizational meeting for Telstar Athletic Boosters will be held Thursday, Oct. 10, at 7 p.m. in the library at Telstar Regional High School.

1918 Club meets

Maine Chapter #7 of the International 1918 Club held their annual fall meeting at East Andover Sept. 28, guests of Violet and Robert Swain.

A total of 67 members and guests gathered for the all-day meeting. Potluck was served at noon. Later, the group went to the town hall for the business meeting and to have a guest speaker, Joe Perham of West Paris.

Pres. Violet Swain presided. John Downes, of Portland, offered a prayer. Sec. Edna Fournier, of Westbrook, read the secretary's and treasurer's reports. A rollcall was held.

The president greeted guests who came from Rhode Island, Vermont and Oklahoma.

John Downes presented the slate of officers for the coming year: president and secretary, Violet Swain, of East Andover; vice president, Albert Judkins, of West Peru; treasurer, Robert Webb, of Westbrook. They will be installed at the holiday meeting in November. Violet Swain will continue writing the newsletter.

Area members and guests will meet at Madisons on Oct. 17, at 5:30 p.m., for a dinner party. Any 1918 member may join this group. Please let Mrs. Swain know before Oct. 15.

The holiday banquet will be held at Lisbon on Nov. 16, at the Harvest House. Reservations and $10 must be sent prior to Nov. 12.

Avery Angevine, of Bethel, won the special door prize.

It was voted to pay banquet expenses for the three outgoing officers and the president.

Hurricane Gloria kept many away who had planned to attend.

SAT PREVIEW AT OHHS

This fall, the nearly 1.5 million students across the United States who take the Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test/National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test (PSAT/NMSQT) will have a special opportunity to familiarize themselves with the testing format also used on the Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT).

On the PSAT/NMSQT, the 100-plus students taking the test at Oxford Hills High School on Oct. 22, at 8 a.m., can preview the exam process for the SAT—the prerequisite for many college-bound students, said Bob Clifford, OHHS guidance director.

The basic goals of the course are to prepare expectant parents in a holistic manner for a rewarding birth experience and to help pave the way for healthy and happy babies and parents.

The classes will meet Monday evenings, from 7 till 9:30 p.m. at the West Parish Congregational Church.

If you are an expectant parent and are interested in the course, call the Bethel Area Health Center, at 824-2193, for more

TRI-TOWN RESCUE

The auxiliary will hold its Silver Wings dance Oct. 19 in the Locke Mills legion hall. Also, a Thanksgiving food basket raffle is planned.

SAFETY TIP OF THE WEEK: Hurricane Gloria came through with a flurry. Many were without power for several days. And many experienced much time removing downed tree limbs. Maybe hindsight is better than no sight at all. Before the next weather warning of difficult weather, stock up with supplies of food, store water in a convenient source, like the bathtub, have a supply of kerosene lanterns and fresh batteries for the flashlight. And don't open the freezer door, as the cold air will escape and warm air will enter.

Hopefully the next storm won't hit so many areas and linemen will be quicker restoring power to homes. But if it should, the old Boy Scout motto is a good one: "Be prepared."

Information and registration. The registration deadline is Friday, Oct. 18.

FIRST AID COURSE IN ANDOVER PART OF PARENTING PROJECT

The subject of "First Aid in the Home" will be the topic of a special Parenting Project program at the Andover Library on Tuesday, Oct. 15, at 7 p.m. Kerry Merrill, of the Andover Fire Department, will present an evening of practical information for parents and interested community members on the subject of basic first aid procedures.

This program is part of the SAD #44 Parenting Project, which offers one-night programs this fall in Bethel, Andover, and Bryant Pond.

All programs are free and are offered in cooperation with the elementary schools and Telstar Middle/High School, as well as a number of area agencies.

Pre-registration is not required, but those planning to attend are asked to call the Andover School, 392-4381, or the SAD #44 Adult and Community Education office, 824-2780, to insure that the program will be offered.

OXFORD POMONA GRANGE

Oxford Pomona Grange met Oct. 1 at West Paris hall for the purpose of conferring the degree of Pomona on four candidates, Henry and Eleanor McMunn, Pleasant Valley Grange; David Dyer, Oxford, and Opal Gardner, Paris Grange. All officers were present. Dot Canwell was the pianist and the soloist was Crystal MacKay. There were 54 present to enjoy the bountiful supper, served by the host Grange prior to the degree work.

Sick members reported were Norman Hill and Bertha Witham. Audrey Hill was reported as losing her eyesight. Anna Henderson read an account on Farmers Credit System.

Kitty Davis, C.W.A. chairman, reported on the winners in that work. Ernestine Riley won on sewing of a dress; the quilt was won in Oxford Grange; relish by Errol Briggs; pillow cases also went to Lakeside Grange; and Frances Allen of Norway won a savings bond. Three members had certificates for giving help to the Grange Cottage. Quilt making was won by Clara Soucy and Esther Crocker, Oxford, and latch hook wall hanging by Gladys Mahar, Lakeside. Carl Brooks won for attendance.

It was voted to send the master and her husband to State Grange. They are Mr. and Mrs. Francis Conant.

The first attendance banner was won for the month of October by Paris Grange. Hazel Cole made the banner and presented it to Oxford Pomona for this purpose.

Gail Butterfield reported on deaf awareness. This is something all speakers should be aware of as many lose their hearing or are forced to wear hearing aids in order to enjoy a meeting. These are not as adequate as one thinks, so all should bear this in mind if they speak in Grange.

The next meeting will be held in Harrison at Lakeside Grange Thursday, Nov. 7 with a legislative program.

Following is a schedule of meetings and events for the balance of Grange year, showing host Granges and meeting subjects: Dec. 3, Oxford, Christmas program; Jan. 7, open meeting, Deaf Awareness; Feb. 4, Oxford, Youth and Junior Night; Mar. 4, Paris, C.W.A. Night; Apr. 1, Norway, Grange Week Observance; May 6, Bear Mountain, Fifth Degree; May 20, Shop and Save Supper; June 3, Waterford, Memorial; June, Food Sale; June 24, Franklin Grange, Election; Aug. 5, Bear River, Past Masters' Pomona Night; Sept. 2, Pleasant Pond, Installation; Sept. 23, Bus Trip, further information to be announced.

Bethel Emergency Ambulance

The Advanced First Aid class started Tuesday night at the bus garage. There's still time for you to join in this learning experience. Simply be at the bus garage next Tuesday at 6:30 p.m.

There will be a board meeting on Sunday, Oct. 13, at 6:30 p.m. Also, the next regular meeting will be on Oct. 20, at 7 p.m. See you there!

On Saturday, Oct. 19, from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m., at CMVIT, there will be a crisis debriefing support session for EMS personnel. This is the time for LAA's and EMT's to share their thoughts about dealing with a personal crisis in the field. Anyone interested in attending should contact Arlene for an application.

Congratulations to everyone who participated in the MCI drill in West Paris. It was definitely an experience for us to learn from and we look forward to another one next year.

SAFETY TIP: Once again it's that time of year when that special breed fills our woods—the hunter. If you hunt, be smart. Learn how to handle your weapon before you enter the woods. Wear the proper clothing, including fluorescent orange somewhere on your person. Be warm and protect yourself from inclement weather, if necessary. Have some knowledge of first aid in case you or someone with you is injured in the woods.

If you don't hunt and still enter the woods for some reason, wear fluorescent orange somewhere. In either case, try not to enter the woods alone and be certain to tell family or friends where you'll be and when you expect to return. Be careful and know what you're shooting at. Don't shoot at odd movements. It may be another hunter.

FRIENDLY SENIOR CITIZENS

The foliage trip of the Friendly Senior Citizens to Rangeley took place on Sept. 26, returning to North Waterford via Berlin, N.H., with a dinner stop at a Berlin restaurant.

On Oct. 2, the regular meeting was held at the North Waterford Church, with 26 members present (fair week). Pam Detour said grace before dinner and President Gene Maillet opened the meeting with the Lord's Prayer and pledge to the flag. Elizabeth Larsen and Fern Deming are celebrating birthdays, with Violet Doughty supplying the cake. Inez Barker is still listed as sick. Phyllis Sawin won the door prize. Sarah Otterson, O.C.C.S., spoke on the home energy program. An auction provided the entertainment, with Pam Detour as the auctioneer.

The Thanksgiving turkey dinner will be on Nov. 6, at the Punkin Valley Restaurant, Bridgton, at noon. The Christmas dinner will be at the same restaurant on Dec. 4, also at noon. A meeting will follow both dinners. At present, 35 places are open for Nov. 6th and 36 for Dec. 4th, with a limit of 70. Reservations for both dinners are necessary.

Notes from the GREENWOOD
HISTORICAL SOCIETY

As evidenced by the record number of voters turning out for the special town meeting Oct. 1, Greenwood is alive and well.

Some 30 members and guests attended our Oct. 2 meeting and the covered bridge program by Bill Robertson, of Westbrook, at the historical house.

Mr. Robertson gave an excellent presentation, introducing us to the basic types of covered bridge construction and a splendid array of color slides, showing these unique bridges, which still exist in Maine and some from those in the surrounding area of New Hampshire and Vermont.

It was also time for annual election of officers at this meeting. Elected for the ensuing year were: Blaine Mills, president; Ellsworth Hathaway, vice-president; Barbara Swan, secretary; E. Lee Mills, treasurer; and to the board of trustees, Vera Cross and Roger Twitcheall.

The Booster Club supper is scheduled for 6 p.m., Saturday, Oct. 12, at the town hall, and an old time dance to benefit restoration of the historical house will be held at the town hall on Saturday night, Oct. 26. Music starts at 8 p.m.

THIS WEEK AT THE Moses Mason House

Over 400 people attended the October monthly meeting held in Bingham Hall auditorium on Oct. 3. President Alden Kennett called the meeting to order and, after the secretary's and treasurer's reports, announced that the next meeting will be held on Nov. 7 in the meeting room of the Dr. Moses Mason House. The meeting will feature a presentation by Thomas Hubka, author of "Big House, Little House, Back House, Barn: The Connected Farm Buildings of New England," published in 1984 by the University Press of New England.

Society Director Stanley Howe then introduced David Weiss, one of the producers of the film "From Stump to Ship," which attracted the largest audience ever in the historical society's 20 years of existence. Weiss explained the background of the film and how it came to be reproduced for presentation around the state at this time. He, in turn, introduced Dr. Edward Ives, director of the Northeast Archives of Folklore and Oral History at the University of Maine at Orono. An internationally recognized authority on folklore, he has done extensive research on life in Maine's lumber camps and is the author of "Joe Scott: the Woodsman-Songmaker." Dr. Ives explained the importance of this photographic resource for understanding the past and provided an example of a lumbering camp song.

"From Stump to Ship" was filmed by Alfred Ames, president of the Machias Lumber Company, in 1930, to, as he said, "make a record of the long lumber operations on the river." At the time Ames made this film, lumbering was a labor-intensive industry. Trees were still cut by hand and most of the loading and unloading of logs was also accomplished by human effort. A few technological changes, however, foreshadowed today's more mechanized operations. The Lombard log hauler, invented at the turn of the century in Waterville and patented in 1901, could move much larger loads and did not require a horse's care and feeding. The Lombard also eliminated troublesome small stream drives and often saved the expense of building dams.

Even taking equipment costs into account, hauling logs was often as economical as driving them; from 1925 on, it became consistently cheaper to haul. It should be noted that this technology was not in widespread use in eastern Maine at the time this film was made.

"From Stump to Ship" takes a close look at traditional practices and technology in a time of transition, as machines and motor vehicles began to replace workers and animals in the woods. The film includes many reminders of the way the lumber industry helped to develop the State of Maine and the character of its people. The images presented are a visual record of a significant era in the state's changing industrial history.

Following the showing of the film, a discussion was held by David Weiss and Dr. Edward "Sandy" Ives. A reception was held at the Dr. Moses Mason House meeting room where cider and donuts were served and many lumbering artifacts were on display for discussion. A group of Gould Academy trustees, Headmaster William Clough and others interested enjoyed another showing of the film, followed by commentary by David Weiss and Karen Sheldon, the co-producers of the film, which was funded by a grant from the Maine Humanities Council and Champion International Corp.

On Saturday, Oct. 5, over 100 attended the society's annual Homecoming Day. Assisting with the decorating of the museum with flowers and harvest items were Barbara H. Brown, Gertrude Hutchins, Rodney and Geraldine Howe, Sudie Vachon, Helen Morton and Persis Post. In the morning Society Director Stanley Howe presented the annual slide show for the Gould Academy Alumni Weekend—"Gould Through the Years"—and in the afternoon, due to the

Notes from the Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce

The Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce met Tuesday at Sunday River Ski Area. The chamber voted to sponsor executive director Rick Whitney to attend the MACCE workshop in Rockport Nov. 3 and 4.

The chamber has filed an intervenor in the Contel rate increase case, but no hearing date has been set as yet.

The chamber voted to purchase a full page ad in the 1986 edition of "Maine Invites You," the chief publication of the Maine Publicity Bureau. One fifth of all inquiries received this year by the chamber have been from people who saw the chamber's ad in this publication.

The chamber phone needs to be housed at a new location effective Oct. 15. As this is an important operation of the chamber, to answer all telephone inquiries, the chamber is requesting proposals from all businesses who may be interested in locating the phone at their business. For details on the operation of the chamber phone please contact Wende Gray.

Bill Riley and Mac MacMunn will represent the chamber on the Mollycoddett Day Committee. The chamber has been asked to assist in placing public telephones in the Bethel area, as no 24-hour public pay phone is now available.

The chamber will host a fund-raising "Shop 'n Save" dinner on Monday evening, Nov. 4. Twelve volunteers are needed to assist with the dinner.

State Rep. Jeff Mills spoke to the chamber concerning a program of work and long-term goals for the chamber. The Oct. 15 meeting will be held at Bethel Furniture Stock.
